Technical

A few simple items addressed at the onset of rehearsing this work provide for an educational experience in addition to the Musical one. For instance the rhythm to the right has 2 interpretations within the score, and if taking on a “march-style” at the Alla Breve, a 3rd.

One interpretation is sweeping and full. The other is separated with the breath, and with the same notation interpreted as:

Built within the piece is an opportunity to have the same notation change from one feeling and style into another via the Alla Breve at measure 26.

Going back at measure 38, the pulse remains the same. It will feel like a ritard which is further stressed as the piece reaches its conclusion.

Musical

In keeping with STORMQuest and “Wish to the World,” here is yet another work inspired by and dedicated to a hero.

Arland Dean Williams Jr. was a passenger aboard Air Florida Flight 90, which crashed on take-off into the Potomac in Washington, D.C., on 13 January 1982, killing 78 people. One of six people to initially survive the crash, Arland helped five others before drowning.

A clergyman later said, “His heroism was not rash. Aware that his own strength was fading, he deliberately handed hope to someone else, and he did so repeatedly. On that cold and tragic day, Arland D. Williams Jr. exemplified one of the best attributes of human nature, specifically that some people are capable of doing anything for total strangers.”

Godspeed! Stephen Melillo

Alla Breve, Spirited, Lifted!

A musical score page showing measures 24 through 29. Measure 24 starts with a dynamic of mf. Measures 25 and 26 show a transition with a change in time signature from common time to 2/2. Measure 27 begins with a dynamic of f. Measures 28 and 29 continue with the dynamic of f.
